Society encourages us to focus on ourselves. The pronouns in the parable of the rich man indicate that he fell into this trap, too: "He talked to himself: 'What can I do? My barn isn't big enough for this harvest.

... I'll tear down my barns and build bigger ones. Then I'll gather in all my grain and goods, and I'll say to myself, Self, you've done well!" (Luke 12:16-19, The Message).

What a difference other pronouns would have made. The man could have asked, "What would you have me do, God?" He could have seen things as God's, on loan to him to share with others: "This barn you've blessed me with, God, isn't big enough for this harvest you've provided. I'll share the extra with others, as you've commanded."

And instead of taking credit himself, he could have offered praise: "God, you've cared so well for me. Thank you, Lord!" - Newsletter Newsletter
